

News Update

MSN Laboratories and DP World Announce Strategic Partnership for Distribution and Commercialisation of MSN-Branded Products in South Africa

MSN Laboratories, a leading global pharmaceutical manufacturer, is pleased to announce a strategic partnership with a leading provider of end-to-end supply chain solutions, DP World, to commercialise its branded pharmaceutical portfolio across South Africa. This partnership will leverage the capabilities of IMHASA (Integrated Market Access South Africa), DP World's specialised Route-To-Market (RTM) team, to ensure widespread and efficient distribution of MSN-branded products throughout the country.

This collaboration marks a significant milestone in MSN's global expansion strategy and reflects a shared commitment to improving healthcare access in South Africa. IMHASA's deep local market knowledge, regulatory expertise, and extensive distribution network will serve as a vital conduit for accelerating access to high-quality, affordable medicines enhancing patient outcomes across the region.

This alliance marks a significant milestone in advancing healthcare accessibility while aligning with both companies' commitment to sustainable growth and shared value. Through this alliance, patients across South Africa will benefit from a broader range of therapeutic options, while both companies work towards improving treatment outcomes and supporting the national healthcare agenda.

Together, MSN Laboratories and DP World aim to create a transformative healthcare impact, combining global innovation with local execution excellence.